

Mike O'Neal
the money coach

Walk with me, let's change your world!

I had the privilege of spending this past weekend at a workshop put on by Belanie Dishong, the Founder of Live at Choice. <http://www.liveatchoice.com/>.

With a group of about 20 men and women, we did things that most people do not do - we actually looked inward to ourselves, to explore why we have made the choices we make, and how to make better choices in the future. We all started by owning our choices, by realizing that where we are, where we are going, is the result of choices we have made, not a result of circumstances, or actions, or others, but our decisions.

It was a wonderfully refreshing weekend. I did not say it was a comfortable weekend, because sometimes we uncovered things about ourselves that we would rather keep covered. Ok, I'll own that one, Belanie. Sometimes, I uncovered things that I would rather keep covered.
